From:	ehud barak <ehbarak1@gmail.com>
To:	Justin Mondshine <Justin@pointstate.com>
CC:
Date:	Thu, 8/28/2014 3:55:06 PM
Subject:	Re: *RUSSIAN ARMY CONTROLS NOVOAZOVSK: UKRAINE SECURITY COUNCIL

Justin
I was just about to send you an email re this, but decided to wait for 8am to let you wake up.
If you're already awake we probably better talk over the phone.
Yes. There is a change here. Most probably following an unsuccessful dialog in Minsk on Tuesday.
The immediate response of VP means that he prepared for this case.
His logic seems to be the one you've mentioned but it can deteriorate beyond this.
Pl call now if you can and we can discuss it in more details.
Best
EB

Sent from my iPhone

> On Aug 28, 2014, at 13:19, Justin Mondshine wrote:
>
> Ehud,
>
> Do these latest events with the russian army apparently seizing control of Novoazovsk change your view on how things play out? Perhaps Putin is looking to bolster his hand so he has something to trade when the real negotiation begins?
>
> Regards,
>
> Justin
>
>
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: Justin Mondshine
> Sent: Thursday, August 28, 2014 03:46 PM
> To: Justin Mondshine
> Subject: *RUSSIAN ARMY CONTROLS NOVOAZOVSK: UKRAINE SECURITY COUNCIL
>
> ===Sent from Bloomberg Anywhere for Blackberry.===
> --JAMES GOMEZ
>
> -0- Aug/28/2014 10:13 GMT
>
> ===Sent from Bloomberg Anywhere for Blackberry.===